CROPS SUFFER DESPITE COOL WEATHER MENU

One Hundred Degree Heat Missing But Clear Skies Continues Damage

CHICAGO, July 29.—One hundred degree heat was missing from United States weather bureau charts for the north central states Tuesday but dry skies continued the damage to crops.

Cooler for at least another day but without much rain was the general forecast for the territory. Local showers for parts of Missouri, Illinois, Indiana, South Dakota and Nebraska promised further relief.

WIDESPREAD RAINS

The more comfortable weather was expected to be widespread and fairly heavy rains Monday which brought up to as much as two inches of moisture to Kansas and rapid falling temperatures from Ohio.

Three persons were killed in that state during a series of sporadic electrical storms and two others lost their lives in a lightning storm in Pennsylvania north western Virginia area. There also were injured as well as property damage.

Irreparable damage to corn and soybeans only slightly lessened by moderate weather, Chicago statisticians reported.

Lay Charge Of Manslaughter

TORONTO, July 29.—Hon. David Crowl, acting attorney general, issued a statement last night announcing Alfred H. Bickmore of Pleasant View, Manitoba, had been charged with manslaughter as a result of the reported death of Totia Ann Hamacher, 23, in Lake Manitoba, July 26.

Miss Hamacher was believed to have been riding in a motorboat driven by Bickmore. Bickmore was quoted as saying he was unaware anyone was in the drifting boat and it was only until someone told him that he saw a human limb bob up from the water.

He said that he then saw the girl go into a boat shortly before the accident.

Lee Apparently Wins Nomination

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 29.—John Lee, youthful former public speaking power who countered with a fluent tongue and ready wit charged he used WPA workers to further his campaign, apparently was swept into the Oklahoma Democratic Senatorial nomination last night.

With almost two-thirds of the state's precincts reporting unofficially, Lee held an insurmountable lead over Governor E. W. Marland, former governor and now an oil man. The vote in 136 of the 140 precincts was 100-36.

PREMIER ASKS CO-OPERATION ON SCRIP PLAN

Promises Social Credit Dividends Will Be Issued Very Soon

VERMILION, July 29.—Premier James G. Stewart today addressed an enthusiastic audience in the agricultural college here last night. He first outlined the state of the province's financial affairs when his government took office and gave briefly his reasons for cutting bond interest rates and the procedure followed.

He stated that the Dominion government's insistence on acceptance by Alberta of the loan council plan was the real reason for the withdrawal of federal support and the consequent default by Alberta.

Referring to what he termed the rapidly developing industry of the province, he said that the government must have the co-operation of all residents of the province in putting across the issue of prosperity loans.

The premier promised that basic dividends would be issued very soon but would only be available at first for the purchase of goods produced within the province.

The amount of the dividend had not yet been decided, he declared, and owing to the fact that the government was not at first expected to issue the dividend, he was smaller than at first expected.

Hon. W. A. Fallow, minister of public works also addressed the meeting and dealt chiefly with production and industries in the province.

He said that the government was not at first expected to issue the dividend, he was smaller than at first expected.

But speakers expressed every confidence of Social Credit success and announced their determination to fight to a finish.

16 MEN MAY BE DOOMED

CHICAGO, July 29.—Sixteen men were feared drowned early today when the motor powered ship, "Vanderbilt," capsized in the rough waters of Lake Michigan four miles off Chicago's south side.

Seven members of the crew were rescued but Captain C. D. Brown, 13 others were listed as missing by the coast guard.

Anniversary congratulations were discreetly forgotten by the men who surrounded 11 Duce at his work.

Beware Of Getting Too Much Sunburn

By GLADYS GLAD

Back in the days of the grand Queen Victoria, it was fashionable to look wan, pale and delicate. Consequently, women were deeply afraid to expose themselves much to the sun. And when they did indulge in what they considered bathing, they were covered from head to toe in voluminous bathing cap. We modern women, however, don't want to appear pale and sickly. We want to appear vivacious and glowing with health. And so we go to it that we soak up plenty of vitalizing sunshine during the summer months.

The girl who wants to cavort about in the sunshine during the summer months must be cautious about it. I warn you. I say that an ounce of protective cream is worth a pound of sunburn cure any day. For a painful, blistering sunburn is not pleasant. And it certainly doesn't benefit the skin any, either.

GOOD THING TO KNOW

Sometimes, however, even that ounce of protective cream is not enough to keep your skin from acquiring a rich, even tan. But it's good to know that a really good protective cream, of course, really won't prevent a woman from acquiring a rich, even tan. But it's good to know that a really good protective cream, of course, really won't prevent a woman from acquiring a rich, even tan. But it's good to know that a really good protective cream, of course, really won't prevent a woman from acquiring a rich, even tan.

Ordinarily, however, proper treatment will soothe and relieve a painful sunburn. An excellent remedy can be made of equal parts of linseed oil and linseed water. This lotion should be patted gently on the skin, and should be renewed every hour as it is absorbed. Water is soon as it is absorbed. Water is soon as it is absorbed. Water is soon as it is absorbed.

I am a member of the Young People's Guild of our church and on the committee to assist with a Chinese tea to be given on the lawn of the church. We would give it as much Chinese atmosphere as possible, and I would appreciate any suggestions that you can give me for the refreshments.

MRS. A. M.

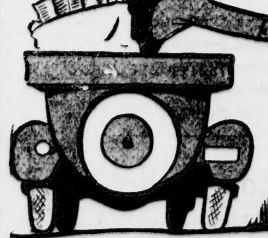

Answer—Your tea will take on a real Chinese atmosphere if all of the girls assigned to do the serving appear in Chinese costume. This is impossible, of course, to get traditional food and to be very effective for table decorations. For the refreshments, serve tea and rice cakes. The latter are very easy to make. If you do not know how to make a Chinese soup where you can buy them. Use any soup, but instead of using all flour, use part flour and part boiled rice. Roll your dough very thin and bake the cookies until crisp and golden brown. In China, tea is served without sugar and cream, but do double the sugar will serve you tea the American way best. Another touch would be to serve candied ginger instead of lemon for no reason.

Any Young Person Who Thinks Two Can Live As Cheaply as One in This Modern Age is Lacking in Common Sense and Marriage Will Go on the Rocks

DEAR MISS DIX—Can two live as cheaply as one? My girl says that they can and urges our marriage. I agree, but she is not content to do so. I feel that my marriage will have as much chance of success if we can start off with at least the prospect of getting along. What shall I do? BILL.

ANSWER—To say that two can live as cheaply as one and especially to say that a husband and wife can live as cheaply as an unmarried man, is an absolutely untrue that the statement is worth denying or arguing. It is contradicted by every fact in life. Two people out there more than one. Two people have to have twice as many clothes as one. It costs twice as much for two people to live in the street car, or go to the movies. It costs much more than twice as much for two people to have a place to live, if you have to think every penny, because a single man can make his home in an apartment to which he could not take his wife.

Any girl who tries to force a man into marrying her against his better judgment and when he tells her he cannot afford it, is not only lacking in common sense but she is silly and selfish and deserves to have her own way, no matter what it costs him. Such a girl will make a poor wife, and one who will give the price of a wedding ring and keep him there as long as he lives.

YOU know you are right in the position you have taken in refusing to rush into a marriage for which you are unprepared. Stick to it. Don't let any girl overpersuade you, or worse yet, or blurt you, or flatter you into doing a fool thing that will spend the remainder of your days regretting it. If she is the girl who wants to marry you, she is not a girl who is a marrying, don't be the last guy who will have to pay for her debts to write Mrs. before her name.

If she has any intelligence, she will know you are right in refusing to rush into a marriage. If she is the girl who wants to marry you, she is not a girl who is a marrying, don't be the last guy who will have to pay for her debts to write Mrs. before her name.

What To Do

It takes a lot of things to make marriage a success before it is taken enough money in life on, for one thing. A young couple who are married, they must have a home, and they must have a home. They must have a home, and they must have a home. They must have a home, and they must have a home.

For a boy and a girl to marry without enough income to at least supply the necessities of life forecloses them to misery and their marriage to failure. There can be no happiness in a home where the couple are so poor that they must wonder where the next meal will come from. Where they are driven from shabby room to shabby room because they cannot pay the rent; where they are harassed by bill collectors and with anxieties, and where the coming of every child is a catastrophe.

Don't let yourself in for this kind of a marriage. Wait until you can finance your marriage. Everything worth while is worth waiting for and waiting for.

REMOVING WALL PAPERS

By Roger B. Whitman

When a room is to be repapered, it is best to remove the old paper so that the new can go on the bare plaster. It is often possible to put new paper over old, but the result is not so good. The old paper will be torn and the new paper will be torn. The old paper will be torn and the new paper will be torn.

TESTING A TANK

By C. F. N. MacIntosh, N.Y.

ANSWER—The tank can be tested by air pressure. Put an air hose on the vent, connect an air pump either to the filler opening or a pump of your own, and pump the tank up. If the tank is tight, a light pressure should hold it. If it leaks, the pressure will drop. A light pressure should hold it. If it leaks, the pressure will drop.

Your Children -

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

"Yes, we'd like to take that dog, but there isn't any doctor here. I wouldn't have the slightest idea how to do it. I'd like to see that dog. That speaks Mrs. Brown, many Mrs. Brown, who have small children to think of."

While it is true that there should be a doctor in every home, it is not every mother who plans to go off into the O. R. Barton, while buying a small hand book on emergency treatment for the commoner ailments as well as having a "table" with her doctor before she goes.

One of the things most dreaded is poison. It is a great nuisance, but it is not every mother who plans to go off into the O. R. Barton, while buying a small hand book on emergency treatment for the commoner ailments as well as having a "table" with her doctor before she goes.

LOOKING THEM OVER

By JACK KELLY

Wenatob Gets Chance to Go Places
—Ball Hits Smart Place—
Classics Billed

It is apparent from the Associated Press report on Eddie Wenatob's fight last night that the Edmonton fighter has enough to at least insure him getting future fights across the line. While Wenatob's campaign in England resulted in quite a satisfactory record, it is against American fighters that he will really have to make good.

His next two or three fights, perhaps even his first six or seven, should not be taken too seriously. Eddie has a lot to learn in this best-bush business. For one thing he has to learn to cover his body better and to pound more on his opponent's torso and less at his head. Being handled by men who know the business, they are not likely to put him into a really tough battle until he improves his style.

However, Eddie should not have much trouble in picking up these fine points in technique. He has undeniable power in his punches, a splendid physique, and an alert mind. The only important thing about his fight last night was that he registered on the critics as a fighter with real possibilities. It is now largely up to him whether next spring finds him on his way to a crack at the top or on his way home.

Oil For the Turnstiles

If the second half of the Northern Baseball League schedule continues to produce games like the Panther-Shasta clash last night the bearings on the Renfrew Park turnstiles are likely to develop hot-boxes. It was smart, fast ball that would have been a stand-out game in any minor league. Little the Panthers lashed out with their four-run rally in the ninth, it was anybody's game. Both clubs were so evenly matched that any trivial break might have been the deciding factor.

It is not generally realized just how fast this second half has become. He Davis, Dick Speer, Leroy Goldsworthy and practically all the players who are in a position to know figure that any team in the league could go into a series with Pacific coast League clubs and hang up an impressive string of wins. There is no question but what this is by long odds the fastest baseball the prairie has seen since the days of the old Western Canada League.

This rating seems to be justified by the showings which Webber and Duggan have made in the Pacific Coast League since their callings by Seattle, the league leaders. Duggan fell the last lap of the trip to Seattle to replace Basier, regular Indian catcher who was injured. His first game was last Thursday against Sacramento, and Seattle was beaten 12-7. Duggan, however, got two hits out of four times at bat. Webber, who was also called up, was getting by just about the same as he was doing here.

While the first half of the league schedule produced a number of games that were disappointing, it was only to be expected in view of the fact that the clubs were making every effort to get together a really smart squad at a time in the season when most of the good ball players had all been snapped up. They had to do a lot of expensive experimenting, but it now looks as if they are all set to really turn on the heat. The few weak spots remaining last week have been plugged very effectively by players from the disbanded Wetaskiwin Indians.

Classics For Week-End

Two athletic events that have rapidly developed into Alberta classics are billed for the coming week-end. On Saturday the Wrigley swimmers, rating provincial championships under the auspices of the Canadian Amateur Swimming Association, will be staged at St. John's. The contest of a mile drive for ladies, similar distance for men, while junior boys and girls will each splash a half-mile for the trophies presented by the famous chewing gum firm.

In connection with these swims, Sylvan Lake will stage its annual regatta with every sort of aquatic sport on the program. Edmonton swimmers are again entering all events and are rated as the favorites to beat.

Monday brings the annual 100-mile bicycle race from Deer to Edmonton, an event staged under the auspices of the Young Men's Conservative Association. It is the only kind of its kind being held in western Canada at present and has drawn the best pedal-racers from as far east as Winnipeg. Bucking a gravelled highway that is not the smoothest sort for racing, the time hung up last year was close to a record. In view of the fact that none of the entrants last year had proper training and that all entrants this year have been training hard for weeks, it is altogether likely that the winner may set a new mark.

Colored Giants Play Shastas Here Tonight

Tonight down at Renfrew Park, Edmonton ball fans will get a chance to see whether the Shastas have enough power to step out and trim one of the outstanding professional clubs. The game is the second of a four-game series—the Acme Colored Giants.

Manager Goldsworthy of the Shastas figures he has the what is needed to win a series with the Shastas. He has a lot of power in his line-up, and he has a lot of speed in his outfield. He has a lot of power in his line-up, and he has a lot of speed in his outfield. He has a lot of power in his line-up, and he has a lot of speed in his outfield.

Last year 21 riders took part in the grueling grind over gravel and asphalt for the coveted title of the fastest of the fastest of amateur cyclists in Alberta. It was a grueling task, but it was worth it. The winner, Jack Campbell, finished in 10 hours and 18 minutes, a record for the race.

NATS TROUCE EMPIRES 13-5 SENIOR GAME

Are Outfit But Profit By Many Errors of Hotel Crew

By JACK KELLY

In baseball talk that has heavy clout, good pitching and a galaxy of brilliant errors, National's victory over the Empire Hotel crew was a 13-5 triumph over the Empire Hotel crew in a scheduled Senior game, encountered at Doyle's last night.

While it is without doubt safe to say that Nationals won the game by capitalizing on the errors of their opponents, it must also be said that they bunched their hits at the right time to bring in runs on base. However, the biggest factor in their victory was the steady pitching of Sewell, that finely crafted pitcher.

He kept the Empire Hotel's hitters off balance, and he kept them from getting into any real trouble. He kept them from getting into any real trouble. He kept them from getting into any real trouble.

Impresses Critics With Fine Victory Semi-Windup Bout

Jack Gibbons Outpoints F. Lenhart in Main Event Of Boxing Card

By JACK KELLY

ST. PAUL, Minn., July 29—Jack Gibbons, St. Paul, light heavyweight easily outpointed Fred Lenhart, Toronto, in a 12-round bout here last night to get the referee's decision. Gibbons weighed 160 lbs. and Lenhart 172.

The son of the old phantom Mike Gibbons, left all the way, Lenhart, who declared Jack in two previous engagements, was unable to score with his vaunted left, and took a sharp licking most of the way. Gibbons began pulling away in the third round when he scored a bad cut over Lenhart's right eye. He knocked the wounded fighter to the canvas and kept the coast clear of balance almost from start to finish.

EASY VICTORY
In a semi-windup, Eddie Wenatob, 174, of Edmonton easily outpointed George X, 184, St. Paul, in six rounds. Wenatob won by stopping his opponent in the fifth round. He was a terrific fighter, but he was a bit of a showman. He was a bit of a showman. He was a bit of a showman.

FOUNDED MR. "X"
He followed through in the fifth round, landed a terrific blow to the local boxer's left eye and pounded him from corner to corner with his right hand. The bell rang, and Gibbons won. He was a terrific fighter, but he was a bit of a showman. He was a bit of a showman. He was a bit of a showman.

Contract Bridge

An insurer states that his bid of 3-No Trumps at East was defeated a trick. He cannot see that game is possible against perfect defense. The opening lead is the 4 of hearts. Is it possible to go game against any defense open to opponents?

Bidding went: South, 1-Heart; West, 2-Clubs; East, 2-Spades, which South passed, as both sides were vulnerable; West, 3-Clubs; East, 3-No Trumps, which stood.

The 4 or Hearts was covered with dummy's 8. North played the 10. Declarer's J won. Any expert should no situation provided South holds just 4 hearts after the opening lead, and protects the club holding with the 10-9. The club suit is blocked by declarer's 10-9. He must in any way rid his hand of one of his lower clubs.

Declarer cannot afford to give North a club trick, as then a heart lead will give declarer a trick and South 4 club tricks, ruining the chances for game. Probably this is what happened to the inquirer. He does not tell in his letter.

The following method must be followed. Lead the Ace of Clubs, capturing South's 4. As the only hope, lead the 9 of Clubs. This will be guarded by the 9 of hearts. Then

South gets a crazy and refuses to win the trick, or if he wins the trick and refuses to garner his 4 heart tricks, declarer will win most of the tricks in contract. Assume that South takes his 4 heart tricks. That is all that he will win. South cannot lead any suit except spades or diamonds, to which declarer holds two certain stops. As South leads a heart, declarer will 2-3 discard, first he will discard one of his clubs, rendering dummy's suit established. Declarer's next discard may either be his lowest diamond or better still, a low spade. This program brings out how the cards left discard defensive tricks.

A BEDTIME STORY

Story by HAL COCHRANE Pictures by GEORGE SCARBO

"Hey, hurry up and have your drink out of that dipper. I don't think there'll be much left when you get through," said Duncy loudly.

"Just wait," said Coppy, with a smile. "I will be finished after while. This is the most refreshing water I have ever tried."

"Good! Drink it all! You make that I will take you to a floating cloud and leave you there."

"I know you will be safe and sound. The cloud will take you to ground, as soon as you have your fill of being in the air."

"Okay! That's fine," said Duncy. "But, by this time you should know we are anxious to try everything that means a brand-new thrill."

me roar! There's many gallons, and lots more. The dipper's plenty big enough to swim in. There's a plan. "When everyone has had a dip, what say we take a little dip? I'll be the first to jump in, if the big star says we can."

The star just smiled, and said, "You bet! But you will get your clothes all wet! Then Coppy looked at sheepish 'cause he'd had a crazy hunch."

At last they all had had a drink and then the big star said, "I think 'Whatever you think's all right for us, we'll gladly do, without a fuss. Fair Duncy backed up Duncy when she shouted, 'Sure we will!' Just then a flat cloud came along. The star exclaimed, 'Well, that looks strong enough to hold you. Those. When we're close, I jump aboard.'"

The Tinies, feeling brave and bold, real shortly did as they were told. The big star then whizzed off to right. "Goodby," the Tinies roared.

The Tinies meet a very strange fellow in the next story.

RESORT HOTEL

By Mack Morgan

BEHIND HERE TODAY
ANN HAMILTON, pretty young secretary in a large business office, goes on a travel agency to make plans for her two-week vacation.

BILL WARE, travel agent, makes an attempt to persuade her to go to a summer resort. Bill tells her he is going there, too, but their vacation is so close that he can't go to a summer resort. He tells her to go to a summer resort.

ANN GOES ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER III
ON the way to Lake Racine Ann felt that adventure was in the air. What was to happen next? She was alone, and the sight of pleasant woods and broad fields made her forget the bustling streets of the city she had left behind. A record heat wave was in progress, but already, only a few hours out, she could feel cooling breezes.

Rather she sought the cool mountain air of Lake Racine, which had been in the midst of a glorious blue jewel in the midst of soaring green mountains.

She thought of the vacation presents, snugly wrapped in her luggage. She thought of the vacation faces that had seen her off at the station, of her roommates, Alice, who was at the seashore; of the girls in the office who were waiting for their turn at taking vacation.

There was Bill Ware who, at the last minute, had turned up at the station to say goodbye.

The business details of the trip had come to her in a flash. Bill and she had had two dates with him. Once they had gone up the river on the bus with the other boarders, people, looking for some cool air. Another time they had taken the excursion boat on the river. Bill was a good sort, she thought idly.

But then she thought of her new life green bathing suit of the evening dress—a cordial's red—which she had picked up at a Tuesday morning sale for almost nothing. She thought of the "mable blouse" at the Glenwood Inn where she was to stay, of young men like knights in shining armor, of tennis balls puffed in a hand, or even just one of her going-away gifts, of a couchman on a long, low-slung roadster that had watched racing the train part of the morning, of electric fans, of speedboats on water, and of the travel book Alice had given her.

But when she changed trains at River Junction, and found herself once more on the dinky little mountain train which poked its way up among the high mountains on the narrow-gauge. Ann merely sat and watched the other vacationers. A feeling of loneliness suddenly beset her.

The other seemed to have brought their friends with them. They called out familiarly from one end of the car to the other. "What are you doing tonight?" a boy called, quite unabashed, the friend of the car. A pretty slim girl seated with her back to the opposite end, called back, "Walk around lake."

"Sure. See you when," the boy answered impudently.

In the seat opposite sat a boy and a girl completely engrossed in themselves. Ann wanted them to be honeymooners, so aloud they seemed, but once the girl glanced excitedly out the window, and said, "There's our cabin, John, darling. Look! It hasn't changed a bit since last year." A cabin in the woods that belonged to them. A setting for their romance.

"Come on over to our camp," "Let me know when you want to play tennis." "Cocktails at 6, and bring everything you know." Invitations flew all about her. Suddenly Ann felt a vast loneliness. She was a little alarmed. Suppose she shouldn't meet even one man she liked. The mere repetition of such thoughts made her feel forlorn and lonely—afraid.

In panic she wished she had gone to the seashore with Alice. She began to wish fervently that even Bill Ware had come along. Any human being who would relieve her of this awful fear that gripped her. The specter of loneliness.

Ann got off the train, pulled her hat down over her eyes, and strode toward the porter of the Glenwood Inn, her chin up. She needed "bucking up" again. When the man moved forward to take her bag, she saw that it was the same fellow who had served the hotel at porter three years before. Her spirits rose. At least here was a familiar face. She didn't feel so alone. The boy recognized her, and said, "That's this way, Miss Hamilton!"

She followed him to the hotel. Ann chatted with him and he told her about the crowd at the hotel, about the weather, and about the dance. "Are there many man guests?" Ann asked, quite sure of herself with this employee of the hotel.

The porter frowned. "Well, not so many. Men are scarce at Lake Racine these days. I guess they all have to stick to their jobs. You know how it is. Men can get reduced on at summer hotels, if they'll promise to go to the house during every night. It's that bad!"

Ann smiled at his display of the place. "Plenty of pretty young girls," the porter said, turning to grin amiably at her. "That doesn't make me happy!" Ann said, and the boy laughed.

"Women are a case!" he said. "But my job works up here, too—in the dining room. We have a good time out here." Ann said pleasantly, "I'll bet you do!" but her thoughts were far from complacent.

They drove up in front of the little mountain inn, the porter took her bag in. Ann registered, and then took a quick turn about the lobby and game room, scanning the faces eagerly. With a feeling close to panic again, she recognized a single man who was to be seen.

It was some comfort when the butler at the lodge came to greet her. Aimee was the same pleasant person Ann had known years before, and talking to her was like greeting an old friend. There was an air of camaraderie about Aimee as she introduced Ann to some of the other girls.

After dinner Ann wandered alone, down to the bathhouse, where she had spent many romantic moments three years before. The moon was shining down on the water.

It was a night filled with enchantment. "Are all first nights in the mountains after a year spent in the city?" she asked. There were faint rippling waves on the lake. Everything seemed so different, so still and beautiful, so different from the noise and heat and dirt of the city. It was fantastic, unreal. It was Aimee's voice, again, though at her heart was the growing sensation of loneliness. Out there on the water were young couples in canoes. A guitar strummed.

"The worst thing about the wide open spaces," Ann mused, "is that there are not enough people in them."

She was looking at the starlit heavens when, almost in front of her, she saw a man's body launch through the air in a straight line to the lake. His head bobbed up and he swam back to the dock at her feet with a powerful stroke. He lifted himself up on the boards dripping water on her feet. Then he saw her standing there in the dark. "Oh, I'm sorry," he said.

The cold water on her stockings had made her cry out, but now she was laughing. "Oh, that's all right!" he laughed. "You're a broad shoulder and trim figure of a crew man. Are you a guest at the hotel?" he asked.

When she nodded, he said lazily, "I'm the boatman, Ralph. Did you want a boat?"

"I'm afraid I can't paddle my own canoe," she said. Then she said it was dark, because the moon was blushing. Her remark seemed audacious.

"Oh, I'll take you out a while," he said. "I don't mind. I haven't got anything else to do anyway."

Ann laughed softly in the dark. What an extraordinary young man!

STUNG AGAIN

After spending one night at a summer resort, a city dweller walked into the manager's office and demanded immediate transportation to the nearest railway station.

"Don't you like it here?" "No, I don't. You led me when you said there wasn't a single mosquito at your resort."

"There isn't! They're all married and have large families."

Specialist: "I'm sorry, but I cannot do anything for you, as your complaint is hereditary. My fee is ten dollars."

Caller: "Thank you. Send the bill to my ancestors."

Join in Reply to Republican Nominee's Acceptance Statement

NEW YORK, July 29.—Six Democratic governors last night joined in a reply to Governor Alf Landon's acceptance speech, terming it "vague" and "disappointing."

Speaking from their home states in a broadcast sponsored by the Democratic National committee, each of the governors analyzed a different section of the speech made by the Republican nominee for the United States presidency and gave what they said was the reaction in their states.

THOSE WHO SPOKE

Those who spoke were George H. Earle, of Pennsylvania; Theodore F. Green, of Rhode Island; Henry Homer of Illinois; Charles H. Martin of Oregon; Roy L. Cochran of Nebraska; and Clyde L. Herring of Iowa.

Governor Earle declared Governor Landon's nearest "Approach to a declaration of policy on any issue is his acceptance of the company union, the most powerful weapon against the rights of labor ever invented."

Governor Homer spoke at length on Landon's promise to restore government "On a constitutional basis, declaring—"

NOT SUPPORTERS

"If the sponsoring of a measure, later declared unconstitutional by the Supreme court, is to be construed as an enemy of the constitution, neither Governor Landon nor the party he represents can be considered as supporters of the constitution."

Governor Green said Landon "blinded us of the tariff, he made a wide detour around the utilities question; he didn't mention stock market regulation; he breathed never a word about banking legislation or a public works program, or specific labor legislation."

Canada, Uruguay Trade Discussed

OTTAWA, July 29.—Discussion on Canada's trade relations with Uruguay proceeded Tuesday between Senator Don Macdonald, Castro, Uruguayan minister, Cuba, and Canadian government officials. The Uruguayan minister also had a talk with Hon. J. L. Riley, acting minister of trade and commerce in the absence of Hon. W. D. Miller.

The discussion it is understood is general in nature and may continue for some days. They had not proceeded far enough to warrant any statement concerning a trade agreement.

Graves Of Two Noted Canadian Pioneers Found

TORONTO, July 29.—Beneath the tall grass of a little abandoned graveyard in Stormont county, in eastern Ontario, have been found the graves of John Sandfield Macdonald, first premier of Ontario, and Susan Fraser, famed Canadian adventurer who was the first white man to view the Pacific from the western shores of this continent.

A friend of Premier Hogg's, interested in the history of his country, found the graves in a little cemetery near St. Andrew's, the last word of his discovery to the Premier, who ordered arrangements be made to care for the graves.

FARMER HAS RECORD CROP

WINNIPEG, July 29.—William Henderson, Manitoba farmer at Treherne on the Glenboro subdivision of the Canadian Pacific Railway, reports a record crop for his district despite present adverse conditions in the west. He delivered to elevators Monday some 700 bushels of headland or field barley grading No. 4, which he claims went 22 to 23 bushels to the acre. Three hundred bushels of six-rowed barley, grading extra, he says went to 40 bushels. Reward wheat is being cut in this district and will be general by the end of the month.

Opposition To Tariff Program Now Discussed

TOPEKA, Kas., July 29.—Opposition to the Roosevelt reciprocal tariff program and the treaties that arose from it were made the subject Tuesday of a discussion before newsmen cameramen between Gov. Alf M. Landon, Republican candidate for the United States presidency, and Senator Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan.

Vandenberg pledged himself to the Landon campaign and subsequent Landon administration "with every resource at my command."

Discussing the trade treaties, one of which is the Canadian-United States agreement, Vandenberg said: "Outstanding among the important points made in your sturdy acceptance speech was the statement that the present administration has put the American farmer out of foreign markets and has put the foreign farmer into the American market."

"It's worse than ridiculous to have such a situation in the great agricultural nation in the world," Landon replied. "It's unjust to our farm producers and unfair to our consumers."

The mathematical sign of equality was devised in 1337 by Robert Barthelemy, who said, "New 2 things can be more equal than a pair of parallel lines of one length."

A radio message from the commander of the New Orleans coast guard division said the captain of the port of Vera Cruz, Mexico, had received reports "that the English ship Nunca probably is damaged near the Honda of Campeche."

Thirteen passengers and a crew of nine were aboard.

CONFIDENCE IS FOUND ONLY IN SQUARE DEALS

only solve their own individual problems but also make an important contribution to the restoration of provincial finances. In exchange for their present holdings—which command 30% less than in the open market—they will be able to acquire partly bonds with ready marketability. But the suggested meetings must be held in a spirit of realism. No illusions must be entertained that there can be any delinquency by adherence to the now obsolete idea of provincial finance. The facts to be faced are stern—as stern as destiny. Bondholders and savings depositors must assemble determined to adopt a remedy which will also give advantages to their debtors.

CONSOLIDATE DEBTS

The remedy suggested could be extended to include the consolidation of the whole public and private debts of the Alberta people and their refunding subject to conditions which will guarantee liquidity. Or it could be restricted to include only the bond and certificate holders. This is a question of detail to be judicially determined. In general it can be stated with confidence that the larger the debt and the holder the attack, the better will be the results. Suffice it to say that if provincial bond and certificate holders continue to lie helpless under the stress of admitted injustice, they at least can only do so by neglecting an opportunity of escape.

The mistake made by the bondholders is that they have not come forward with constructive proposals. They have incurred expense in investigating provincial finances. It is doubtful if the investigation will add materially to their knowledge or that it will inspire fertile suggestions. Their investigation will have been conducted to prove the possibility of perpetuating the present debt burden. There is no such possibility. The investigation should have been directed to other purposes. The objective should have been to ascertain by what means the people of Alberta could repay the principal of their debt, or in the alternative by what means they could confer liquidity on their debt claims. The creditor who can sell his claim in the open market at parity is no longer the victim of injustice.

THE SOLUTION OFFERED

The solution of the problem of the provincial bond and savings certificate holder is the adoption of policies which will give him access to his funds. The same solution will give the provincial government the municipalities, and the people of Alberta exemption from the intolerable burden of interest on their debt. That solution is offered by the Geesell System. There is a

MONEY TO BUY COAL INTEREST WAS BORROWED

Imperial Trust Loaned Cash for Barnett to Gain Stock Control

MONTREAL, July 29.—Money borrowed from Imperial Trust for purchase of controlling shares of the F. P. Weaver Coal Company was not put up by a partner, Lorne Weaver or some of his banking affiliates, as was claimed by the company. Charles M. Barnett, New York city financier, told the Tory Royal Commission Tuesday.

In testimony given before the commission, Dr. H. M. Tory of Ottawa, at the probe into the Canadian anthracite situation, Mr. Barnett said he purchased the controlling shares of the Weaver company in 1932.

PERSONAL INVESTMENT

The transaction was "an entirely personal investment in a sound company," he said.

To make the purchase, witnesses said, he borrowed from Imperial Trust $300,000 in various amounts.

Cheques making up that amount were drawn by his order, he said, but outside the fact they came from the Bank of Montreal or the Royal Bank he could not tell by whom they were drawn.

PERSONAL NOTE

He presumed, however, the money was put up by Senator Webster or some of his banking affiliates, under the senator's guarantee.

There was no other endorser to those notes and when he turned the money over to the Weaver firm he received a company note in return. When the money was paid, they were destroyed, he said.
